and the control processing the second second and the second secon

CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

INFORMATION REPORT

This Document contains information affecting the National Defense of the United States, within the meaning of Title 18, Sections 793 and 794, of the U.S. Code, as amended. Its transmission or revelation of its contents to or receipt by an unauthorized person is prohibited by law. The reproduction of this form is prohibited.

SUBJECT Communism in Rumania DATE DISTR. 15 April 1953 NO. OF PAGES 2 25X1C DATE OF INFO. THE SOURCE EVALUATIONS IN THIS REPORT ARE DEFINITIVE. THE APPEARS OF CONTENT IS INSTANCE. (FOR RET SEE REPORT) THE SOURCE EVALUATIONS IN THIS REPORT ARE DEFINITIVE. THE APPEARS OF CONTENT IS INSTANCE. (FOR RET SEE REPORT) THE SOURCE EVALUATIONS IN THIS REPORT ARE DEFINITIVE. THE APPEARS OF CONTENT IS INSTANCE. (FOR RET SEE REPORT) THE SOURCE EVALUATIONS IN THIS REPORT ARE DEFINITIVE. THE APPEARS OF CONTENT IS INSTANCE. THE APPEARS OF CONTENT ARE DEFINITIVE. THE SOURCE EVALUATIONS IN THIS REPORT ARE DEFINITIVE. THE APPEARS OF CONTENT ARE DEFINITIVE. THE APPEARS OF CONTENT ARE DEFINITIVE. THE SOURCE EVALUATIONS IN THIS REPORT ARE DEFINITIVE. THE APPEARS OF CONTENT ARE DEFINITIVE. THE SOURCE EVALUATIONS IN THIS REPORT ARE DEFINITIVE. THE APPEARS OF CONTENT ARE DEFI	·	25X1	SECRET		25X1A
25X1X 1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (FMR) was to envoll as many people as possible. Consequently near opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the Farth have been very stringent and admission has been on an extramely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the FMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, enti-Communist sentiments gained strongth, since life in the Communist sentiments defend to engage in active opposition to the regime and the FMR, however	COUNTRY	Rumania		REPORT NO.
25X1X 1. Until 1946, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to enroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The not result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. So or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. Day of preparated opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. The or or provided in the communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized research exposure existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Eger (L527M-2L57E), Muntele Papusa (L531M-250ME), Muntele Fagarasi (L535M-2L45E), Muntele Papusa (L531M-250ME), Muntele Fagarasi (L535M-2L45E), Muntele Papusa (L55XI)	SUBJECT	Communism in Rumani	ia	DATE DISTR.	15 April 1953
25X1X 1. Until 19h8, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to enroll as many people as possible. Consequently nany opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 19h8 and 19h9, the PMR has lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2.		25X1C		NO. OF PAGES	2
25X1X 1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PME) was to enroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PME has lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PME. 2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PME and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist was against the PME and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist continuous gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PME, however	DATE OF INFO.	29,(10		REQUIREMENT	2
25X1X 1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to enroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undestrable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. Left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (1,527M-21,57E), Muntele Papusa (1,53M-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (1,53N-21,15E), Muntele Bistrita (1,720N-2535E).	PLACE ACQUIRED		 25X1A	REFERENCES
25X1X 1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to enroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undestrable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. Left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (1,527M-21,57E), Muntele Papusa (1,53M-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (1,53N-21,15E), Muntele Bistrita (1,720N-2535E).
1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to enroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has Lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E).	}		PPRAISAL OF CONTENT I	S TENTATIVE.
1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to emroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has Lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E).
1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to emroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E).
1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to emroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E).
1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to emroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has Lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E).
1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to emroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has Lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E).
1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to emroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has Lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E).
1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to emroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has Lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E).
1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to emroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has Lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E).
1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to enroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E).
1. Until 1948, the general tendency of the Rumanian Workers' Party (PMR) was to enroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E).	OFV4V emroll as many people as possible. Consequently many opportunists or those who sought economic security joined the Party. Since 1948 and 1949, the PMR has lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E).		1948, the general ter	ndency of the Ru	manian Workers' Part	v (PMR) was to lived through a continuous series of purges, whereby the undesirable elements were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian pepulation were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2.	enroll	. as many people as po	ossible. Conseq	uently many opportun	ists or those who were weeded out. Since that time, entrance requirements to the Party have been very stringent and admission has been on an extremely selective basis. The net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2	lived	through a continuous	series of purge	s, whereby the undes	irable elements
net result was that only approximately 10 percent of the total Rumanian population were either sympathetic to or actual members of the PMR. 2	were w	eeded out. Since that	at time, entranc	e requirements to th	e Party have been
2. there were almost no politically-undecided individuals left in Rumania. 80 or 90 percent of the total population was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however. no organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E).	net re	sult was that only a	pproximately 10	percent of the total	. Rumanian left in Rumania	popula	tion were either symp	pathetic to or a	ctual members of the	PMR.
25X1X was against the PMR and the Rumanian Regime. Day by day, anti-Communist sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however
25X1 sentiments gained strength, since life in the Communist environment is an embittering experience. Very few of those with anti-Communist sentiments dared to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however			80 Bumanian Ragim	or 90 percent of th	e total population to engage in active opposition to the regime and the PMR, however	zonik "as as sentim	ents gained strength,	, since life in	the Communist enviro	nment is an organized opposition to the Communist Regime in urban areas other than groups of friends in the cities who gathered to listen to foreign broadcasts. 3. It was common knowledge in Rumania that well-organized resistance groups existed the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E). SECRET 25X1		ering experience. Ve
the mountain regions such as Muntele Ezer (4527N-2457E), Muntele Papusa (4531N-2504E), Muntele Fagarasi (4535N-2445E), Muntele Bistrita (4720N-2535E). SECRET 25X1	25X1 embitt		tion to the mooni
SECRET 25X1	25X1 embitt 25X1 to eng organi	age in active opposit zed opposition to the	e Communist Regi	me in urban areas ot	her than groups of
25/1	25X1 embitt to eng organi friend 3. It was the mo	age in active opposition to the s in the cities who as common knowledge in the cutting such a contain regions such a	e Communist Regi gathered to list Rumania that we as Muntele Ezer	me in urban areas ot en to foreign broadd 11-organized resista (4527N-2457E), Munte	her than groups of asts. nce groups existed le Papusa (4531N-
1 mar	25X1 embitt to eng organi friend 3. It was the mo	age in active opposition to the s in the cities who as common knowledge in the cutting such a contain regions such a	e Communist Regigathered to list Rumania that we as Muntele Ezer 4535N-2445E), Mu	me in urban areas ot en to foreign broadd 11-organized resista (4527N-2457E), Munte	her than groups of asts. nce groups existed le Papusa (4531N-
	25X1 embitt to eng organi friend 3. It was the mo	age in active opposition to the second opposition to the second opposition to the second opposition to the second opposition of the second opposition opposition of the second opposition op	e Communist Regi gathered to list Rumania that we as Muntele Ezer 4535N-24445E), Mu SECRET	me in urban areas ot en to foreign broadd 11-organized resista (4527N-2457E), Munte	her than groups of asts. nce groups existed le Papusa (4531N-N-2535E).

Approved For Release 2003/08/28 : CIA-RDP80-00810A000900550006-6

	Approved For Release 2003/08/28 : CIA-RDP80-00810A000900550006-6
	2
25X1	the nucleus of some of the resistance organizations was composed of former members of the Iron Guard but that the main body consisted of political refugees who, because of their capitalistic background or their land holdings, were considered enemies of the State.
4.
25X1	there were 200 or 300 PMR members in the Dinamo electrical equipment
	plant in Bucharest, which employed some 3,000 persons.

- 5. During the past year, 1951 1952, the Rumanian Workers' Party has continued to increase the restrictions for membership in its ranks and to purge unreliable elements. Many technicians in industries have been demoted and their places filled by Rumanians who returned from specialization courses in the USSR.
- 6. The City Council (Sfatul Popular) was a type of workers' soviet as seen in the USSR after the October Revolution. As of 1952, the influence of the Sfatul Popular was being increasingly felt, especially in Bucharest. The Sfatul Popular assigned street supervisors and building supervisors and assumed the responsibility of issuing ration cards to non-productive individuals. Through this organization the individual's home was more closely watched than ever before.

SECRET

M